

'At War's End'

Wednesday 29th April 2015

At 10am-5pm

In the McKechnie Room, 101, 10 University Gardens

Workshop featuring the relationship between the prevailing political and strategic conditions at the end of conflicts - or "the way wars end" - and thinking about international order in the post-war period.

Session 1: 10.00-11.15

Guy Rowlands: The Ending of Louis XIV's Wars.

Chris Storrs: How War Ends.

Session 2: 11.30-13.00

Alexander Marshall: Stalin at War's End, and Suslov's Rise to Power: 1945-1952.

Jan Ruzicka: Revolutionaries in Control: Security at the end of revolutionary conflicts.

Mathilde von Bulow: Decolonisation as challenge, threat, or opportunity? German visions of international order at the end of the Algeria's war of independence from France (1954-62).

Lunch: 13.00-14.00

Session 3: 14.00-15.30

Charlie Hall: Scientific intelligence during the Cold War.

Campbell Craig: Explaining the US Endgame: Hiroshima, Nagasaki, and the Counterfactual.

Phil O'Brien: William Leahy and the end of the Second World War, establishing an American Peace.

Final session: 16:00-17.15

Michael Williams: An end without a beginning: Security strategies and symbolic power after 1989.

Peter Jackson: Closing remarks.

All Welcome